The production, which was under the direction of Prof. A. C. Lund, reflected much credit upon him, as it did upon those who participated.

It is difficult to individualize in a company like this, but especial mention should be made of the singing of Frainetta, impersonated by Mattie Clark. Her voice is clear and strong and sweet, and she was repeatedly encored. And what is said of Miss Clark may also be said of Beatrice, portrayed by Jennie Camp; of Isabella, portrayed by Jennie Camp; of Isabella, portrayed by Margaret Bean, and of Peronella, as portrayed by Neola Ellertson. The duct, "To the House of Prayer," by Mattie Clark and Neola Ellertson, was beautifully rendered.

In the character of Boccaccio, David Reese proved to have an exceptionally fine voice, and in the duct with Frainetta in the third act was repeatedly encored. The solo of Carl Neison was spiendidly done, as was also the solo, "He Is a Prince," by Jennie Camp and chorus. The trio, "I'd Be a Star," sung by Messrs, Reese, Allred and Jehnson, and "The Welcome Letter," a vocal waltz, sung by Mattle Clark, Neola Ellertson and Margaret Bean, were most charmingly rendered.

This play was the laughing hit of the past year in New York, where it was played throughout the season at the Garrick theater to crowded houses. Its clean, wholesome fun was especially commended. The new play gives Mr. Collier even greater opportunities than "The Dictator" or "On the Quiet, in which he scored such notable successes. The scenes of the three acts of "Caught in the Rain" are laid in and about Helena, and the story concerns the courtship of a bashful, young mining engineer. Under an awning, in a very realistic rainstorm, he meets the young girl with whom he falls desperately in love, but it is not until the end of the play that he wins her hand. Charles Frohman has surrounded Mr. Collier with an exceptionally capable company.

"What shall I eat?" is the daily inquiry the physician is met with. I do not hesitate to say that in my judg ment a large percentage of disease is caused by peorly selected and improperly prepared food. My personal experience with the fully-cooked food, known as Grape Nuts, enables me to speak freely of its merits.

"From overwork, I suffered several years with malnutrition, palpitation of the heart, and loss of sleep. Last summer I was led to experiment personally with the new food, which I used in conjunction with good rich cow's milk. Dra short time after I commenced its use, the disagreeable symptoms disappeared, the disagrecable symptoms disappeared, my heart's action became steady and normal, the functions of the stomach were properly carried out and I again slept as soundly and as well as in my worth

I look upon Grape Nuts as a porfect food, and no one can gainsay but that it has a most prominent place in a rational, scientific system of feeding. TO WIND UP DUTIES

WASHINGTON, May 25 —Working under heavy pressure, with a single eye to adjournment at the earliest possible moment, the House today disposed of a great amount of business. Early in the session it became manifest that a better spirit of feeling obtained between the majority and minority in consequence of which several bills were permitted to be passed by unanimous consent. It developed when the House recessed tonight that the roll had been called 228 times since Congress convened. Prior to March 30, when the Democratic fillbuster began, it had been called but 15 times. The innumerable calls since then brought about today a temporary breakdown on the part of the two reading clerks, and Representative Chaney of Indiana, who has a voice of good carrying quality, volunteered his services in that work, which proved satisfactory.

The sum total of the day's business was as follows.

The conference reports of the sundry civil and the pension appropriation bills were agreed to, thus sending those measures to the President for signature and leaving only the general deficiency and military scademy appropriation bills to be considered in order to complete the disposition of the fourteen measures of the Government. The conference report on the District of Columbia child labor bill also was agreed to, and the following bills were passed.

Amending the navigation laws: removing the discriminations against matice often in the discriminations against matice of infantry; authorizing the sale of unallotted lands of the Spokane Indian reservation; encouraging the development of coal deposits in Alaska, and prescribing penalties against the sale of clothing and Government property by soldlers.

The omnibus bill relating to disposition of the public lands was sent back to conference.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—An effort to annihilate time by dilatory tactics without making progress on any legislation except that involved in conference reports was the chief occupation of the Senate today under the leadership of Mr. Aldrich. The attempt was so successful that the net result in the way of accomplishment of the day's session was the adoption of the conference report on the sundry civil appropriation bill.

Throughout the day Mr. Beverlage was busy in an effort to get a vote on the bill compensating Government employees for injuries received in their line of duty, but after the debats had progressed farenough to develop various objections to the language of the bill, Mr. Hale arose to say that he had information from the House that no action could be expected there today on the conference report on the public buildings bill and that until that measure should be disposed of the deficiency appropriation bill could not be perfected, after which he moved an adjournment.

Mr. Beveridge resorted to some actics.

Mr. Reverlidge resorted to some action to keep the Senate in session to consider his bill, but Mr. Hale, amid laughter, remarked that "there are some things the Senate can do without the Senator from Indiana," and insisting upon a vote on the motion. The Senate at 4:40 o'clock adjourned.

The medical students have planned a large "bust" for the faculty of the medical school. Two of the members Drs. Chamberlain and Cardiff will not be back next fall and the boys take this opportunity of showing them their appreciation of their efforts and the work they have accomplished while connected with the institution.

At a meeting of the faculty yesterday afternoon it was decided to grant the hour of 11:39 o'clock to the students Wednesday morning for the purpose of holding an executive meeting. The report of the treasurer, James Alley, is to be made, besides several amendments to the constitution of the Associated Students are to be voted upon. All classes will be postponed one hour.

The medical students held their annual election yesterday afternoon in the Minseum building. The following officers were elected: E. L. Poterson, president, W. W. Jackson. had worked fourteen shifts in saloons and restaurants in twenty-one days and had been 'up against it,' in the vernacular of the streets. Colford said he started into business in the Greenlight saloon, but his partner got drunk and they split up, leaving him unemployed. He said he had been unable to get work regularly after that. The most important witness for Colford was William H. Toms, a co-partner of Sparey & Mehse, restaurant men.

Then Newton, in the argument, got into action and oracled and perorated at length, mercilessly flaying the policemen who testified against his client. Judge Diehl, in giving his decision, held that the prosecution had falled to show conclusively that the alleged beggar had been idle but intimated that there was some evidence that he was dissolute. He found Colford not guilty, however, and discharged him.
